Invitations are out for the marriage of Mr. J. W. Cromwell formerly editor of the late People's Advocate, and at present principal of the Garnet school to a very prominent young lady of Philadelphia, Pa. The event will be celebrated in Philadelphia, from which place the couple will come to this city the next morning.

Mr. Geo. Countee, left for his home in Denver, Col. Wednesday evening.

Mr. N. J. Miles of the Weekly Mirror, published at Pittsburg, Pa., was in the city last week attending the B. M. C. Convention.

Mr. W. B. Lee, of Boston, Mass., was in the city this week and called on the BEE accompanied by Mr. J. H. Lee of this city.

A traveler relates his experience with Salvation Oil, it cures a stubborn case of inflammatory rheumatism, after so-called remedies had failed. Mr. Geo. F. Abbotts, General Traveling Agent, Y. S. & L. Co. Pottsville, Pa. says: "I was a great sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, and during the whole month of May did not arise until 11 o'clock a. m. I had tried every remedy without effect and was in great pain. I determined to try Salvation Oil. It relieved me the first night, and now, after a month's use, thanks to the liniment, I am up with sun and able to be on the road again."

The attack that has been made on Hon. John R. Lynch by certain papers edited by Negroes is actuated by petty jealousy. Mr. Lynch is one of the best and most honest representative in the colored race.

An obstinate case of cold which the doctors could not cure—Mr. J. A. Kerr, 817 State St. Erie, Pa. writes: "In October I caught a terrible cold which settled heavily on my lungs. I could not sleep and had severe pains in my head when I procured Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, which relieved me entirely before the first bottle had been used up. My appetite returned, my sleep became sound and natural, and I felt as well as I ever. I tried Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup only after physicians' remedies failed to give me relief."

DEATHS.

Dr. C. M. Hammett, Health Officer presents the following report for the week ending October 8, 1892. Number of deaths 135, white 74, colored; 61. Death rate, 1,000 per annum: white 22.0; colored 37.8. Total population 37,042; were under five years of age; 26 were under one year old, and 26 over 60 years. 26 of the deaths occurred in hospitals and public institutions.

The deaths by classes were as follows: Zymotic 37, Constitutional 32, Local 51, Developmental 11, Violence 4.

The principal causes of death were: Diphtheria 4, Consumption 16, Diarrhoeal 12, Typhoid fever 6, Malarial fever 9, Pneumonia 4, Congestion of the lungs 2, Bronchitis 3, Whooping cough 3, Kidney diseases 4, Meningitis 1, Cancer 3.

Births reported, 30 white males, 23 white females; 15 colored males, 23 colored females.

Marriages reported, 32 white; 7 colored.

Stillbirths reported, 5 white 5 colored. The health of the city during the week ended on Saturday last remained about on the same scale as through the several preceding weeks, the total mortality being 136 as compared with 132 in the former week. There is no prominent disease prevalent, nor any sign of epidemic. There was a slight increase from 6 to 9 in fatal cases of malarial fevers but this number is not unusual at this season of the year. The 15 deaths from pneumonia and pulmonary congestion indicate a persistent influence in the direction of acute inflammatory attacks upon the lungs. With the exception of the cases of diphtheria, the contagious diseases still continue either at a minimum or in complete abeyance.

Of the four cases of violence, two were from drowning, one from railway cars, and one inhaling illuminating gas.

Battle at Venezuela.

A cable dispatch announces a decisive victory by General Crespo over the Venezuelan government forces at Los Teques. The battle is described as a most desperate one. Six hundred men are reported killed and several high government officials captured. The number of Crespo's men in battle is set down as 14,000. There were twelve pieces of artillery. The government forces numbered 6,000 and were commanded by General Pulido, uncle of Acting President Pulido. Several Americans took part in the conflict on Crespo's side.

End of Sarah Althea Hill-Terry's Suit.

After dragging through the courts for over thirteen years, during which time the defendant has died and the husband of the plaintiff has been killed by a Deputy United States Marshal, and the plaintiff has become so hopelessly insane that it was found necessary to confine her in an asylum, the notorious Sharon case is finally settled by the Supreme Court of California. It is declared that Sarah Althea Hill was not the wife of William Sharon.

Wants His Kidney Returned.

Two years ago a rich merchant of Dayton, Ohio, had a kidney removed by a surgeon. Recently, after a critical examination, his physicians decided that the surgeon had removed the sound kidney instead of the diseased one. The surgeon admits he has the kidney preserved, but refuses to return it, and resource will be had to a replevin suit. If the much wanted kidney proves to have been sound a damage suit will follow.

Mr. Cleveland Refuses Wine.

A little incident that occurred on the steamer Pilgrim during Mr. Cleveland's trip to New York last Friday, has attracted attention. A waiter approached him at the dinner table with a glass of wine from a Mrs. Goddard, of Kansas, who was traveling with her four daughters. She sent her compliments with it and expressed a wish for his continued good health and his success in the campaign. The ex-President arose, bowed his acknowledgments, touched the glass to his lips, but did not drink. He asked to be excused, as he had decided to drink no intoxicants during the present struggle.

Collision in a Fog.

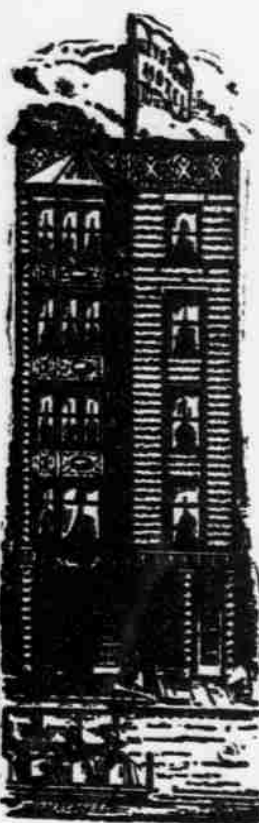

The steamer Premier was struck by the steam collier Williamette in a dense fog off Whitby Island, about ten miles south of Port Townsend, Wash., Saturday afternoon. Four people were killed, one drowned, and seventeen badly injured.

Militiamen in Trouble.

There is trouble in the Ninth Regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania. About a week ago, members of Company H, at Pittston, started a subscription for the Homestead strikers. The leaders of the movement have been summoned before Colonel Keck, of Wilkesbarre, who demands an explanation.

Deaths from Cholera.

The cholera returns from the whole of Russia for Aug. 11, shows a large increase in new cases as well as in the mortality. There were reported 9,177 new cases and 5,009 deaths.

AGRICULTURAL AND INDUSTRIAL FAIR.

We are arranging to have the largest Fair on the 13th, 14th and 15th of Sept., 1892, ever held by the colored people in any section. It is hoped every farmer, teacher and public man will arouse his people and let us come together and show to the world what we can do as a race. Now let the farmers, mechanics, miners and in fact every one get ready for this great enterprise.
